ADVISORY OPINION STATEMENT

THE PERFORMANCE OF WOUND DEBRIDEMENT BY NURSES

The Kentucky Board of Nursing is authorized by Kentucky Revised Statutes (KRS) Chapter 314 to regulate nurses, nursing education and practice, promulgate regulations and to issue advisory opinions on nursing practice, in order to assure that safe and effective nursing care is provided by nurses to the citizens of the Commonwealth.

The Kentucky Board of Nursing issues advisory opinions as to what constitutes safe nursing practice. As such, an opinion is not a regulation of the Board and does not have the force and effect of law. It is issued as a guideline to licensees who wish to engage in safe nursing practice, and to facilitate the delivery of safe, effective nursing care to the public.

Accountability and Responsibility of Nurses

In accordance with KRS 314.021(2), nurses are responsible and accountable for making decisions that are based upon the individuals' educational preparation and current clinical competence in nursing, and requires licensees to practice nursing with reasonable skill and safety. Nursing practice should be consistent with the Kentucky Nursing Laws, established standards of practice, and be evidence based.

Rationale for Advisory Opinion Statement

The Board has received multiple inquiries on the role, utilization and scope of practice for both the registered nurse and licensed practical nurse in the provision of wound debridement for clients with impaired skin/tissue integrity.

Advisory Opinion

After review of the statutes governing registered nursing practice, licensed practical nursing practice, advanced practice registered nursing practice, and the knowledge and skill required to perform surgical and/or mechanical wound debridement (removal of nonviable tissue), the Kentucky Board of Nursing issued the following advisory opinions:

Advanced Practice Registered Nurse

Wound debridement is within the scope of the advanced practice registered nurse qualified by educational preparation and clinical competence.

Registered Nurse

The performance of surgical and/or mechanical wound debridement, as ordered by a qualified provider, for an individual patient, are within the scope of registered nursing practice for the registered nurse qualified by educational preparation and clinical competence.

- The registered nurse should perform debridement according to established written agency policy and procedure agreed upon by medical and nursing leadership, which are consistent with the definition of registered nursing practice [KRS 314.011(6)].
- The registered nurse is responsible for having adequate educational preparation and clinical competence to perform debridement procedures in a safe effective manner.
- The registered nurse should have documented evidence of educational preparation and clinical competence, which provides for clinical practice and demonstration of competency in the performance of debridement procedures

Licensed Practical Nurse

It is within the scope of licensed practical nursing practice for a licensed practical nurse who is educationally prepared and clinically competent to assist the advanced practice registered nurse, registered nurse, licensed physician, or PA in debridement.

Determining Scope of Practice

KRS 314.021(2) holds all nurses individually responsible and accountable for the individual's acts based upon the nurse's education and experience. Each nurse must exercise professional and prudent judgment in determining whether the performance of a given act is within the scope of practice for which the nurse is both licensed and clinically competent to perform. In addition to this advisory opinion statement, the Kentucky Board of Nursing has published "Scope of Practice Determination Guidelines" which contains a decision tree chart providing guidance to nurses in determining whether a selected act is within an individual nurse's scope of practice now or in the future.
